

With a prestigious faculty, the University of Vienna offers a full-time LL.M., providing students with an understanding of fundamental questions and essential structures in international law. It is located in one of the world's most attractive cities which hosts numerous international organizations (IAEA, OPEC, OSCE, United Nations). Vienna also offers a famously unique heritage and cultural experiences whether your taste tends towards classical music and fine arts or a vibrant club scene.

Program Description:

The program focuses on current problems and new developments in international law, such as the interaction of governments and other key players on the international level. The courses are offered within the framework of four modules:

- Fundamental Issues of International Law,
- International Economic Law,
- International Organizations and
- International Dispute Settlement.

Our Students:

Candidates holding a university law degree are eligible to apply. All applicants must submit valid TOEFL or other language proficiency scores unless they earned their first law degree predominantly in English. The entire program will be taught in English. Students will be admitted on the basis of their academic and other pertinent qualifications. Preference will be given to candidates who have already gained relevant experience in the academic field or in legal practice, within public or private institutions, such as international organizations or NGOs.

Degree:

Master of Laws (LL.M.)

Duration:

2 semesters (full-time)
